

Frequencies for Your Life

Presenting the MagHealy Device

MagHealy is a new and exciting product created by Healy World that complements the original and widely successful Healy device. The "Mag" part of its name stands for "magnetic." It is based on scientific principles and professional TimeWaver technology, realizing the vision of Marcus Schmiede, the inventor and founder of both TimeWaver and Healy: Empowering people to live healthy, fulfilled and conscious lives through frequencies and their positive effect on the body.

MagHealy is featuring the latest technology: It is emitting a cleverly designed magnetic field, strong enough when you are close to it, yet when you move a bit further away, there is stronger informational coupling through the magnetic field. The field does not need to be particularly strong, because it puts you in resonance with the frequencies.

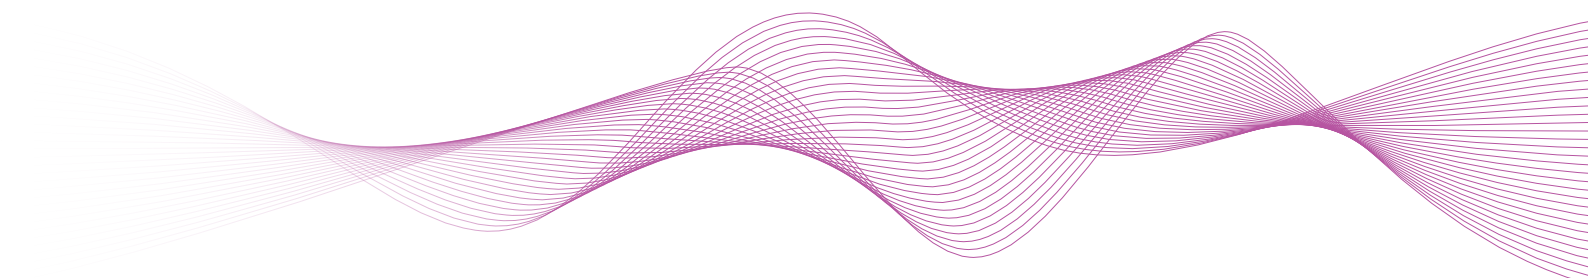

Its operation is very intuitive; you will know when you need to use it! Maybe your clients are tired at work or can't concentrate; in this case, simply run the Energy program. Or maybe they are in need more creative ideas? Just run the Creativity program!

The Power of Four:

The MagHealy Applications

MagHealy consists of four program categories: The basic category is the Classic application, representing the proven classics in magnetic field application. Second category is the Atmosphere application, providing you with Quantum Analyzed Frequencies (QAF) through a spatially extended magnetic field. The third category is designed to inform, energize and activate drinking water. The fourth element is designed after the work of American teacher, researcher and frequency application expert Carolyn McMakin, using various combinations of dual magnetic frequencies to very effectively address imbalances in the Bioenergetic Field.

Healy or MagHealy?

No Need to Choose One!

You do not need to decide which Healy to get, the “classic” Healy device or MagHealy running the Atmosphere programs; you should get both! One is working in the body’s Bioenergetic Field; the other is working in the space around us. They work together seamlessly, creating valuable synergy: You may use Healy for a specific purpose, for example harmonizing the Bioenergetic Field of a particular biological system or organ; at the same time, you could harmonize the energy of a working space by using MagHealy.

Thus, the two quantum sensors, one in the Healy device that someone is wearing on their body and the other one in MagHealy sitting on a desk, are quantum entangled, not just producing independent frequencies, but creating a frequency “symphony,” quite like an orchestra! This makes for amazing synergistic effects, with two frequencies being active at the same time, creating interference, extending and enhancing their individual effects.

Proven Power

The MagHealy Classic Application

The programs contained in the MagHealy Classic application are representing the proven classics in magnetic field application. They use frequencies and intensities that have been tested in scientific research and proven in practice; they promote important areas of wellbeing in both the bodily as well as the emotional realm.

Although these programs do not employ Information Field analysis, they are of great practical value since they are designed to directly bring oscillating magnetic fields to effect.

Enhancing the Source of Life

The MagHealy Water Application

MagHealy and its special Quantum Analyzed Frequencies (QAF) can even be used to powerfully energize and inform drinking water with a magnetic field. This is an important aspect, water being the material form of the Information Field, the basis of life, consisting of molecules that are electric dipoles and contain all the information on which life is based. Water possesses a very specific frequency spectrum that allowed life to evolve on this planet in the first place!

By treating drinking water, energizing, informing and activating it through a QAF magnetic field emitted by MagHealy, humans can ingest energy and information into their cells, into their whole body. For this purpose we are providing two MagHealy program pages with 24 essential programs to inform and activate water. This constitutes vital support for bioenergetic wellbeing.

Power in Space

The MagHealy Atmosphere Application

The MagHealy Atmosphere programs are the most important element and feature of MagHealy because they most strongly complement the original Healy device, which, usually attached close to the body, sends frequencies directly through the body, whereas MagHealy acts throughout a given space by emitting magnetic fields with Quantum Analyzed Frequencies (QAF).

MagHealy complements Healy in a powerful way, extending the capabilities and options of the Healy technology. MagHealy creates a pulsating magnetic field that extends up to one and a half meters across.

We provide a series of 24 Atmosphere programs, naming them as we did because their frequencies are acting through the atmosphere, through space. They cover many important purposes such as concentration, learning, relaxation, energizing or creativity, vision and others, to support you and your clients. Or imagine a business or client meeting with MagHealy in the center of the room: It will promote a harmonious meeting, clarity and understanding, creativity and focus, making everything smoother and more effective. The same goes for personal work, for everyday life and other applications.

Power through Interference

The MagHealy McMakin Application

There is another major effect that MagHealy can exert by using its six individual layers of magnetic fields. Using two times three layers to create interference of two different concurrent frequencies is what we call McMakin application, after Carolyn McMakin, the American teacher, researcher and pioneer of interfering dual frequency applications.

The McMakin applications are different from the atmospheric applications described above: The McMakin program group contains 24 essential programs developed by Carolyn McMakin using specific frequency pairs that very precisely target various imbalances in the Bioenergetic Field. In each frequency pair the first frequency relates to imbalance whereas the second frequency defines the target in the Bioenergetic Field, for example, the Bioenergetic Field of the liver. Each of these 24 McMakin programs contains the complex sequence of such pairs.

in the fields of professional sports and complementary medicine.

Carolyn has adapted her 24 most important protocols exclusively for the MagHealy device so that they can be easily and effectively applied via two independently applied cable-free magnetic field coils. This allows the effect of the McMakin frequency protocols to freely unfold in the Bioenergetic Field.

In addition, Carolyn supports MagHealy users through her classes at the Healy Academy and maintains an intensive collaboration with the Healy World clinical research team to document the effectiveness of the protocols.
